

Deadly Espresso Cafe welcomes Epilogue Café

Our experiences of dying and death shapes our perception and influence our thoughts about our own last moments on Earth. Such thoughts can be overwhelming when we have no-one to share with. Yet, once spoken, they can become the first step on the journey of healing and transformation.

At Epilogue Café event, community members are welcome to share their thoughts, feelings, concerns and questions about topics related to death and dying. Some people share by bringing a poem, painting or story, while others are comfortable just listening. Any form of respectful participation is welcomed.
